

Rehabilitation Medical Group

OUR PRACTICE: The Rehabilitation Medical Group provides compassionate care for individuals seeking help with disabilities. The group's dedicated doctors and staff combine many disciplines of medicine and rehabilitation to bring about a renewed quality of life for patients. The goal of a physiatrist (a physician who specializes in physical medicine and rehabilitation) is to maximize function by relieving pain and minimizing the social, psychological and vocational effects that may accompany physical impairments. Established in 1992, Rehabilitation Medical Group treats athletic injuries, spinal cord injuries, arthritis, chronic pain, industrial injuries, stroke and brain injuries, amputation, and nerve and muscle injuries. The practice uses interventional procedures to treat those with chronic pain and disabilities, including fluoroscopic guided injections as well as implantable devices to control pain and spasticity. MICHAEL CREAMER, D.O.: Dr. Creamer earned his Doctor of Osteopathy from the Chicago College of Osteopathic Medicine in 1983, and completed his residency in Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation at Northwestern University. He is Board Certified by the American Board of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation, with a subspecialty certificate in Spinal Cord Injury Medicine and Pain Management.

DIANA HARPER, M.D.: Dr. Harper received her medical degree from the Medical University of South Carolina in 1993. After an internship in Spartanburg, S.C., Dr. Harper spent three years as an emergency department physician in the Air Force. She completed her residency in Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation at East Carolina University and served as Chief Resident her final year. Dr. Harper is Board Certified by the American Academy of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation. She joined the Rehabilitation Medical Group in 2000. LINDA GEMSCH, M.S.N., A.R.N.P.-B.C.: Linda Gensch is a nurse practitioner with a caring interest in adult and geriatric clients. She received her Master of Science in Nursing from the University of Florida with post-graduate certification in geriatrics and her Bachelor's in Nursing from Florida Southern College. She is certified in Adult and Pain Management nursing by the American Nurses Credentialing Center.
