Downtown Pet Hospital

Dr. Christine McCully, Dr. James Califf, and Dr. Jennifer Dempsey

ABOUT US: Dr. James Califf is a graduate of Auburn University's College of Veterinary Medicine. He is a member of the national (AVMA), state (FVMA), and local (CFVMA) veterinary associations, and was a past president of the local CFVMA. Dr. Califf helped form the Veterinary Emergency Clinic and was the director for 17 years. In addition to hospital practice, Dr. Califf has maintained a house call practice in the Orlando area for over 30 years. He opened Downtown Pet Hospital in 2005 on the site of the first veterinary clinic in Orlando, which was established in 1937. Dr. Christine McCully graduated from the University of Florida's College of Veterinary Medicine in 2005 and has worked at Downtown Pet Hospital since then, becoming an owner in 2006. In addition to general practice, Dr. McCully has special interests in dermatology and soft-tissue surgery. She is also a member of the national (AVMA), state (FVMA) and local (CFVMA) veterinary associations. Dr. Jennifer Dempsey worked as a veterinary technician at Downtown Pet Hospital for two years before leaving to attend veterinary school. Dr. Dempsey received her veterinary degree from UF's College of Veterinary Medicine in May 2013 and is excited to return to the practice! Her interests include dermatology, ophthalmology and dentistry. WHY YOU SHOULD CHOOSE US: Our doctors and staff are dedicated to helping you
