

Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery Center at MD Anderson Cancer Center Orlando

Richard D. Klein, MD, MPH, FACS; Kenneth R. Lee, MD, FACS; Jeffrey M. Feiner, MD

SPECIALTY/FOCUS: The Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery Center at MD Anderson Cancer Center Orlando is the largest microsurgical practice in Florida offering the most advanced reconstructive services. The center provides comprehensive and multidisciplinary care to patients of all ages. SERVICES: Breast reconstruction including microsurgical flaps (Deep Inferior Epigastric Perforator Flap DIEP), Aesthetic Surgery, Reconstructive Microsurgery, Vascularized Lymph Node Transfer for Lymphedema, Head and Neck Reconstruction, Limb Salvage, Pediatric Plastic Surgery, Facial Paralysis Surgery, Dermatologic Surgery, Vaginal Reconstruction and Rejuvenation, and TORS (Trans Oral Robotic Reconstructive Surgery). INNOVATIONS: In keeping with our continual pursuit of excellence and innovation, our surgical team of Drs. Klein, Lee and Feiner recently performed the first ever vascular lymph node transfer surgery in the state of Florida. Our team is among only a handful of surgeons in the United States performing this procedure, which alleviates the debilitating symptoms of lymphedema, a condition most notably seen after breast cancer treatment. Having performed the most DIEP flap reconstructions in Florida, our team offers unique and extensive microvascular experience. EDUCATION/EXPERIENCE: Dr. Richard Klein and Dr. Kenneth Lee have practiced together for 8 years. They have over 33 years of combined surgical experience, with training from the Universities of Pittsburgh, Michigan and South Florida. Dr. Jeffrey Feiner joined the center in 2012 from The Johns Hopkins Department of Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery. PHILOSOPHY: At MD Anderson-Orlando, it is our commitment to do everything possible to provide the highest level of quality and compassionate care to you and your loved ones.
